Subject: How many more students will have to be ruined financially before Joseph Flaherty is fully satisfied?

Dr. Flaherty,

As a dean of a for-profit medical school with an attrition rate of over 20%, you have brought shame and indignity to Ross University and the medical community.

Your legacy as the dean of Ross University will be remembered as the one who shattered the dreams of many and who profited from all the students who had to live with massive debt and financial ruin.

I have no doubt that your conscious will suffer in this life for the financial crime you committed against all those students who are now left penniless, including myself. There is no justification for what you did, and you are worse than a common criminal.

Mr. Flaherty, it is time for you to step down. If you have any dignity left, you'll cooperate with Congress and the Department of Education's investigations against DeVry, Inc. and all those responsible.

How many more students will have to be ruined financially before you are fully satisfied?

As history has noted, many of journalists in Iran sent to prison for publications against government and its institutions. If I have to be put in prison in United States for publishing what Ross University did to me, I'll still publish and tell what Ross University did to me.

Mr. Amini,

Have these various "corrected" and "amended" responses concerning the preliminary injunction application been sent to the Court?

Please understand that the Court's orders did not provide for additional sur-reply submissions by you after plaintiffs' reply papers were filed, and plaintiffs' reserve the right to object to their submission.

Mr. Flynn,

The attached is corrected exhibit for the amended response. I mistakenly put summery judgment on exhibit 23 of the other exhibit rather than the preliminary judgment ruling. This exhibit has the preliminary injunction ruling.

Thanks

Mr. Amini,

So long as your motions are filed with clerk within twenty-one days of October 16 and unless otherwise ordered by the court, your time to answer complaint will be tolled until fourteen days after court decides on those motions. That occurs by operation of the rules, see Fed R Civ P. 12(a)(4), and my consent is unnecessary.

Gyves,

In order for you to get a TRO, you need to demonstrate three thing:

1- That there is irraprable injury to your client---which you know it is not true and if you claim so, you are acting in bad faith. The website is based on my personal opinion and published articles in the news. So if you are going to make up something, the judge is going to see that you lied to the court.

2-- That the court has jurisdiction. I reside in Arizona, and I don't have any connection with state of NJ. Once I get served with court documents, then I file a motion for a change in venue.

3- That you have a good chance to win the case. I 100% doubt that given the fact that it was your client, intentionally broke the agreement first (I have ample evidence to prove my case against your client), and the agreement was fraud. So I have a major counter claim against your client that must be sorted out first.

I any event, I don't have a phone as I am 100% broke, thanks to your client. But I can use skype and I can call the honorable judge, through your phone, if you send me an email with time and date.

I intend to fight this to the end, as long as it takes. Even though I am a Citizen of Canada and no judgment from US court on matters relating to what your client is alleging is enforceable in Canada (there is not reciprocity in this case), I am going to fight this here because I beleive it is your client which is bogus and defrauded students like me and taxpayers.

Once last note, since English is my second language, I am requesting for an interpreter and translation to Farsi for all your questions.

Have a nice day in the court!

Good morning, Mr.

Amini. Please be advised that on behalf of Ross University School of Medicine and Global Education International, Inc., we will be appearing in the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey in Trenton today seeking, by way of an order to show cause, an expedited hearing on our application for preliminary injunctive relief against you and the bogus Ross University websites you have established and are maintaining. We also will be seeking temporary restraints pending the preliminary injunction hearing. Please be guided accordingly. We will forward copies of our papers shortly, and advise of any developments with respect to our application once we file our papers. In the event the judge assigned to our application may wish to hear from you and you are unable to appear today, is there a telephone number we may provide to the Court so the judge can reach you telephonically?

I have copied George Cotz on this email as a courtesy. Based on my recent conversation with Mr. Cotz, I understand that he does not currently represent you.

If I am incorrect in this regard, I ask Mr. Cotz to so inform me. If you have retained new counsel with respect to this matter, please forward his/her contact information so I may reach out to your counsel directly.

Feel free to contact me at your convenience.

Mr. Gyves,

As an attorney from New York, I am quite sure you are familiar with rule 8.4 of the NYS rules of professional conduct, and rule 1.6A.

I believe you/your institution/your agents, directly/indirectly, conspired with my former attorney, Colleen Kerwick, to inflict pain and suffering upon me, including violating the non-disparagement agreement that was signed on Feb. 2012. I believe you utilized the information that was provided to you by my former attorney, knowing these information are protected under attorney client privilege clause. Not only you/your institution/your agents used these information as a pretext to retaliate against me, but shared these information with other individuals, third parties, knowing clearly that these information were confidential.

As such, I am filing a complaint against you, and your law firm, with Departmental Disciplinary Committee for the First Department for violation of rule 8.4 of the NYS rules of professional conduct, and rule 1.6A.

Thank you.
